Enterprises.

[Special to The Times-Disps;ch.]

RALEIGH, N. C., February 16.—
There is much talk here to-day of the new bill which, it is expected, will be introduced very soon for the new Lee county. It is said that the name "Lee" county may be dropped and "Melver" county may be dropped and "Melver" county adopted. The territory to be embraced may be changed somewhat, and there may be a clause providing for a vote of the people in the territory affected.

Many contend that it will be a mistake to agitate the matter further this session; that bad faith will be charged, and there is danger of the advecates of the new county impairing their chances for years to come.

The Raleigh Aldermen have decided to include in charter amendments to be second of this leeves and this second of the Leevishture.

The Raleign Aldermen have decided to include in charter amendments to be secured at this seession of the Legislature provisions for the extension of the clt limits one-quarter of a mile on the north, east and west. This is not at all satisfactory to the Chamber of Commerce, which wants the extension to be equal on all sides and extend one mile from the Capitol Square each way. The Aldremen have agreed, too, to ask for a police commission, to provide $100 a year, pay for Aldermen, and increase the salary of the police justice from $600 to $1,200.

RALEIGH, N. C., February 16.—Decidedly the feature of the day in the General Assembly was the passage by the House of Representatives of the Laughinghouse resolution, calling on the Corporation Commission for a statement of the terms and reasons for the withdrawal of the suits for $15,000 against the Southern Railway Company for breaking the Solma connection prior to putting on the present new train from Greensboro to Goldsboro for this connection. The sensation centred in the flery speech of Mr. Laughinghouse, who declared that the commission had not even required the Southern to pay the expense of counsel for the State in instituting the suit, and it was a question whether the State or the Southern should lose this money.

Continuing, he said: "The thing shows that Colonel Andrews and Henry Miller have more influence with the continuing and that they do exactly as they wish. If the commission is to be the representatives of the railroads, and not the people, then, in God in heaven's name, let them he shifted to the pay-roil of the railroads."

The resolution passed without further discussion by a vote of 47 to 12.

Another important feature in the House was the setting of the consideration of the Manning railroad passonger rate bill for the final reading as a special order Tuesday night at 8 o'clock.

DURHAM, N. C., February 16.—Fire totally destroyed the old factory of the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Company late this afternoon at a loss of $5,000. Since the creetion of a new building in Durham, the wooden structure that was destroyed has been used as a storage house. The firenen fought the flames flercely, but it was impossible to extinguish them. The gathering of students as representatives to attend the students' convention from the different colleges and preparatory schools in the State Indicates a very enthusiastic assemblage that attended three sessions at Trinity College to-day. The attendance is much larger than expected.

Those that addressed the convention this morning were: Dr. Edwin Mims. of Trinity College; Dr. H. L. Laflame, travelling secretary of the Students' Volunteer Movement, and Mr. C. D. Daniel, students' secretary for North and South Carolina. The affengoon session also consisted of addresses, and the second day's session closed with a social gathering to-night.

Dr. A. L. Phillips, of Richmond, will address the convention to-morrow night.

CHARLOTTESVILLE. VA., Fobruary
16.—"Hill Top." the beautiful country home of Barnes Compton, a Maryland capitalist, situated four miles north of the University of Virginia, was totally destroyed by fire about daybreak this morning. After strenuous work, about half of the furniture was saved.

How the fire originated, it is not known, as the family was absent in Atlantic City, and no one occupied the dwelling. Flames were first seen coming through the roof. Total loss, $15,600; insurance, $9,500.

The dwelling, a handsome stone structure, was splendidly situated in an oak grove, overlooking an estate of 163 acres in a high state of cultivation, and was erected a few years ago by Mr. Paul Goodlee McIntire, a New York broker. Mr. Compton purchased the property about two years ago, and recently offered it for sale for $25,000.

Our History Contest

One can but look back from February of this year, cold and stormy as it has been, to February of 1607, when the little Eaglish fleet was plowing its way across the Atlantic toward the shores of Virginia while the whole world watched its progress.

The link binding the Virginians of the present to the Virginians of three hundred years ago is about to be welded anew. Virginia women at least are showing themselves mindful of all that the present owes the past in this State by acquainting themselves with the people and events that render those early years so eventful and so important.
